

OH, SERAFINA! OH, SERAFINA!

Augusto, a young industrialist, is in love with nature: he likes to talk with the birds; does not want to use plastic buttons in his factory; and opposes the sale of the park next to his factory, even though he would make millions. One day Augusto marries one of his workers, Palmira, a girl on the make. She wants everything, including her husband's fortune and thus manages to get her husband committed. But Augusto finds his soul mate in the clinic, the sweet Serafina, daughter of an arms' dealer.
