

YOYES YOYES

Yoyes, the first woman who held a position of responsibility within ETA, returns from exile in Mexico and attempts to rebuild her life. But coming back is not easy for her. While she lived outside Spain she developed as a person: she studied an university career, she worked at the UN, she had a child.. Meanwhile, in her home country violence continued to make front pages of the newspapers. Yoyes tried to forget and to be forgotten, but her years abroad only served to convert her into a living legend. Her former comrades-in-arms interpret her return as an act of treason. Yoyes loves her country, she wants to blend into its landscape, but Autumn brings more than dry leaves in its wake.
